1958 AXP VACATION CONVENTION

THE INN
BUCK HILL FALLS,
PENNSYLVANIA

"In the heart of the cool Poconos"

Advanced registration for the 1958 Alpha Chi Rho Vacation Convention, where the program is designed for the heart and the head, where the friends of yesterday and the problems of the future will be featured, is indicative of the best conference yet.

You should come; the Fraternity needs you, and you and your sons need the Fraternity.

WHERE: The 1958 Convention Committee has secured the fabulous INN at Buck Hill Falls, Pennsylvania for our convention. All the facilities of THE INN are available to conference members, including the motion picture theatre, golf course, tennis, swimming and bowling on the green.

WHEN: Thursday, Friday and Saturday, September 4, 5 and 6, 1958. Registration, reunion with old friends and renewal of old bull sessions and discussions Thursday afternoon and evening.

WHAT: This 1958 Convention will provide an opportunity to conduct the regular business of the Fraternity and to direct our thinking toward tomorrow. Example: The Deans' Panel, scheduled for Friday luncheon, where Dean of Men Carl M. Grip, Temple University; Dean of Men George B. Peters, University of Pennsylvania; and Associate Dean of Students J. D. Leith, Lehigh, will discuss the adjustments fraternities must make to meet tomorrow's educational problems.

WHO: You. And with you will be Walter Yust, speaker for the banquet and editor of the Encyclopedia Britannica; Stan Bedford, Jim Swartz, Jack Brown, old-timers from "Curly" Walden to new brothers from Phi Phi and Epsilon Phi who will serve as hosts.

WHY: In educational circles it is generally agreed that there will be more change, more crisis, more veering from yesterday's path, in the next ten years than has taken place in the past fifty. If fraternities are to adjust to this new climate, they will be wise to try to understand the current pressures on higher education and thus plan their futures intelligently. On this basis the co-chairmen of the 1958 Convention have planned a program which will be thought-provoking — but you will have fun!
